Sharing experiences. Music touches everyone and brings people together. The Motion Composer's interactive technology makes movements audible. Every movement, no matter how small, can produce sound in real time. This sensory experience opens a completely new way of interacting with each other and raising one's body awareness. Experiencing the MotionComposer together helps develop social skills with joy and confidence.

Supporting individual needs. People with severe disabilities are often excluded from active participation. The MotionComposer promotes individual expression and enhances well-being and health by supporting strong emotional and physical development potential. It can be used for therapeutic, as well as educational or artistic purposes.

Promoting participation and inclusion. The MotionComposer is an ideal tool for successful inclusion work. It offers a variety of user-scenarios, including improvisation, song playing, musical and dance creations, storytelling, role-playing and a lot of exploratory fun. When you bring your creativity to the task, anything is possible!
